3. PRESENTATION

3.1 CITY OF LA MESA WASTE REDUCTION PROGRAMS PRESENTATION

City of La Mesa Solid Waste Reduction Programs Presentation presented by Serena Lee. The presentation included information about Senate Bill (SB) 1383, organics recycling, edible food recovery program, sustainable procurement, waste reduction at schools, environmentally preferable purchasing guide, and other programs including household hazardous waste, battery recycling, Litter Free La Mesa community cleanups, and Compost Awareness Week.

Amanda-Dawn Natalia asked about additional locations for battery recycling. Serena Lee responded the State has introduced new legislation that would require battery sellers to have battery recycling on site.

Mark Gracyk asked if EDCO charges for mulch and if there are waivers available for the sustainable procurement requirements. Serena Lee responded that EDCO does not charge and provides this service to the community and that the State has done a phased in approach for sustainable procurement limits.

Mary Nooristani stated that BMP's (best management practices) for stormwater and if there are any locations in the City that could utilize the mulch as a BMP to prevent runoff and soil erosion, and that fire departments will also use mulch and compost to prevent fire spread and create buffers.

Michael Bourton stated that the calculations for the sustainable procurement requirements of SB 1383 seem too high for the cities to meet.

Brianna Coston stated that the La Mesa Spring Valley School District has challenges with food recovery due to the universal food requirements for kids, so they started a free food table for students to place the items they don't eat so it does not get thrown away. Additionally, some schools do not have a full service kitchen, making it difficult to meet food safety requirements. Serena stated that I Love A Clean San Diego has been working with the school nutritionist and staff to identify opportunities for food recovery. Amanda-Dawn Natalia stated that from the parent perspective, it has been great to see the recycling roll out.

Michael Bourton stated that methane from landfills is 10x more potent in the landfill than spread out as mulch or compost. Serena responded that that is the intent of SB 1383 to address short lived climate pollutants, also known as methane.
